In this essay, I will present how some parts of Computers are minerals. Another essential point is that minerals that are used in computers must be mined from the ground. For example, all minerals come from Earth's crust. Specifically, most computers and electronics contain circuit boards that are made from some minerals which are considered precious metals. According to my research, the minerals that are metals in addition to used as computer parts explains the high cost to purchase a computer.

Recently, the war in ~~the Congo~~ the Democratic Republic of the Congo ^{is} ~~is~~ blamed on the mineral trade.
