

Retelling and Central Message Review

When you retell a story, you _____:

- A. make a list of the characters and describe what each of them is wearing.
- B. only tell the funny parts of the story.
- C. tell what happened using key details from the text.

A key detail from the beginning of this story is:

- A. Goldilocks is wearing an apron.
- B. Goldilocks went into the bear's house without being invited.
- C. Goldilocks ran away and was never seen again.

A key detail from the end of this story is:

- A. The wolf fell into a pot of boiling water.
- B. One pig built his house out of sticks.
- C. One pig built his house out of bricks.

A key detail from this story is:

- A. Sheila Rae is wearing pink.
- B. Sheila Rae is not afraid of anything.
- C. Sheila Rae walks to school sometimes.

The central message of a story is the _____.

- A. illustrator
- B. dedication
- C. lesson

The central message of this story is:

- A. Always be honest.
- B. Always make sure that your clothes match.
- C. Always take your time and work hard.

Here are the important events from the beginning, middle, and end of the story. Write about each picture in order in your notebooks. You can use the words: First, Next, and Finally.

The central message of this story is:

- A. Sometimes it's okay to lie.
- B. Always be honest even when it's hard.
- C. If you find something, you can take it.

