

4. VISIT LOCATION: Granny's Cottage

As you jump out of the hat at Granny Smith's cottage, you notice hundreds of little egg monsters raiding the house for treats. Poor Granny is yelling at them as they continue to slurp all of the sugar from everything that she bakes.

Granny Smith

"These egg monsters are a nuisance; they are sucking all of the sugar out of what I bake! None of my pies and muffins taste nice without sugar. The more I make, the more they take; I'm so tired from baking so much. Not to mention, these rotten jellybeans they keep throwing everywhere taste disgusting!"

"They haven't tried to hurt anyone. Well, except for Bert, the Big Bad Wolf. The egg monsters bit him because he tried to eat one of them. Poor old mean Bert is now that big green spotty egg monster over there extracting the sugar out of all the ice cream in Granny's freezer. Now the ice cream just tastes like frozen milk!"

"We just need a sample of an egg monster; then the detective will be able to examine it and hopefully find a clue."

"Lucky for you, I happen to have already a sample that broke off one of the egg monsters' arms when it fell from my garden wall. I'll go fetch it for you."
