LIONS

Lions are a type of cat, but they are very big cats. They can be found in various parts of Africa. Lions stay and live together like a big family called a pride. They are very beautiful cats, but they are predators which means they hunt for their food. Male lions have mane which is like a fur beard they grows around their face. The male lions are responsible for protecting the rest of the pride from any intruders. Female lions (lioness) do most of the hunting for the family because they are smaller, faster, and more agile.
