

III 1.3

about the current wars between France and Europe and on which side they should get involved. The Federalists were pro British and the Republican democrats were pro France. After much debate two treaties were signed, Jay's Treaty with Britain and the Conference of 1800 with France. These treaties helped America remain neutral in these conflicts.