

to have in modern society. Incorporating mobile technology in the classroom is key to preparing your students for the future

Remember to Weigh Both Sides

Students bringing a phone to school has both positive and negative consequences. Many schools have set rules in place regarding cell phones and whether they are permitted in the school or classroom. Parents can decide whether their child should bring a phone to school - as long as it is not against the rules - and set appropriate guidelines regarding the use of the phone.
