

PROTESTS IN STATES

People at a Protest

People in many U.S. states are going to protests. The states include Michigan, Kentucky, California, Arizona and more. People at the protests want businesses to open. State governments had closed many businesses to help stop the spread of the coronavirus. When the businesses closed, many people across the U.S. lost their jobs. People at the protests want the governments to open businesses again. They think businesses can safely open, bringing back jobs while protecting employees and customers. Other people disagree. They think opening businesses is not safe yet. They think the coronavirus may spread and make many people sick. What do you think?

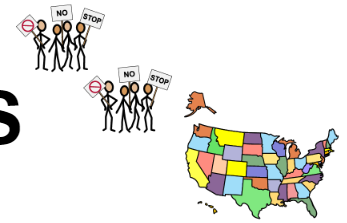

Photo Credit: Shutterstock/Andrew Selsky

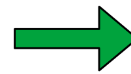

WHAT

PROTESTS IN STATES

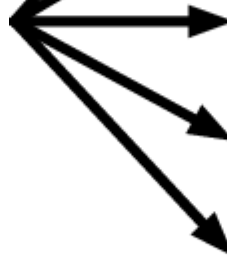

People in many states are going to protests.

The states

include

Michigan,

Kentucky,

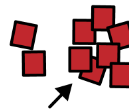

California,

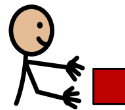

Arizona

and more.

People at the protests want businesses to open.

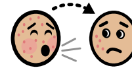

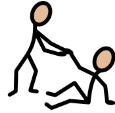

State governments had closed many businesses.

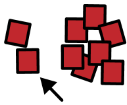

Businesses closed to help stop the spread of the coronavirus.

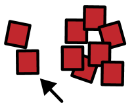

Some people think businesses can safely open now.

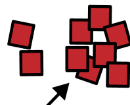

They think businesses can protect people.

Some people think businesses cannot safely open.

They think more people will become sick.

1. WHAT are people in many states going to ?

concerts

protests

football games

2. WHAT do people at the protests want to open ?

social media

businesses

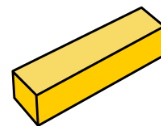

post offices

3. WHAT did businesses close to help stop the spread of ?

butter

grass

coronavirus

